CORRESPONDENCE, containing important news solicited from any quarter of the world.

NO NOTICE taken of anonymeus correspondence We do not return rejected communications

THE Sickles trial is over; closed, as every body supposed it would be, by a verdict of "not guilty"-not that the slayer did not kill his man, but that, in doing so, he served him right. How much better the world has been made by the proceeding, it would be difficult to tell; but many, we suspect, will be glad that the stream of prurient detail which has so long poured through the telegraph into the newspapers, and from the newspapers upon the public, has, at last, come to an end.

A few of the conductors of public journals-among the most distinguished of whom are those of the New York Tribune and the Cincinnati Commercialappear to have enlisted their consciences in the matter, to make their publication of facts, sayings and inferences as extensive and as smutty as possible. Both of the gentlemen named, by one of those coincidences which occur among men of genius engaged in the same pursuit, fell upon the same figure to illustrate their idea of the office which they were performing-that of THUNDER. They have, for the last three or four weeks, considered themselves as thundering away in a perpetual-though we must say, not extremely savory-volley; and as thunder was the means, and clearing up the moral atmosphere the end, and, of course, the more thundering, the more clearing up, they doubtless look upon themselves as having imparted a sweetness to the moral atmosphere in proportion to the vigor of their performances. The majority of the American press has, we believe, long since become tired and disgusted with the whole affair.

RABELAIS tells a story of a Devil who was so fallen below the common standard of diabolatry, that, while he was not totally denied the use of the thunder of the pandemonial laboratory, was only permitted to play it off upon turnip beds, cabbage patches, and such like domestic institutions, to the terror of the old women, their proprietors. Nature, perhaps, in this case, has done what the Satanic hierarchy decreed in the other-to restrain the fulgurant propensities of these modern pyrotechnists to bloody murders, interesting cases of crim. con. and the like shining features of our moral condition. Well, it may be right; but one thing is certain: for gentlemen who thunder con amore, and from a sense of duty, they manufacture an exceedingly poor article; and the imparted atmospheric sweetness is of a very suspicious charac-

City Rallways. There seems to be no doubt of the benefits of STREET RAILWAYS to the people of the cities where they have been introduced. To dispense with the lines that have been constructed in New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore, would be looked upon as almost an impossibility; and the power which should assume to decree their destruction would be justly chargenble with tyranny. Why we have them not in Cincinnati, is a question which must be referred for its answer to the pastfinding-out wisdom of our city authorities-whose motives, in a general way, are as inscrutable as their professed reasons are immeasurable. We should be loth to suppose that the tardiness of our public servants in this matter had its origin in any hesitancy as to the most fruitful in benefits to themselves among the several schemes presented to their notice; and should prefer to attribute it to a praiseworthy, though somewhat extreme carefulness of the interests of the public in the proposed improvements. How many years such conservative feelings will be sufficient to justify the refusal to the people of these important conveniences, is a question upon which there may be diversities of opinion. We understand that, in the course of several years of solicitation, log-rolling, and discussion, the progress of intelligence has been such that a majority of the Council is convinced that a Street Railway in this city is a possibility—an event which, without serious injury to public prosperity, may be permitted to arrive. The question of railroad, or not railroad, therefore, is one of time. There is, however, as we learn, another question-a question of parties, which also includes a question as to the manner and terms upon which the privilege to build is to be accorded. Embryo corporations are in conflict-claims of precedency in point of time-and there is talk of putting short, perfect impunity.

up the permission to construct a passenger track in our streets-as the Pretorian guards at Rome did the Empire-for sale to the highest bidder, upon the principle, the most ready cash the most merit.

There is an organized company of our fellow-citizens, composed of gentlemen both respectable and responsible, who have, for years, been soliciting the Council to fix the terms upon which they might be permitted to lay down a track upon some one of our public thoroughfares. Had such terms been fixed, the people would have been enjoying the benefits of the improvement before such a thing as competition had been thought of. Why now it is necessary to look for other parties-they being still in the field-it is not very easy to understand. All over the world, men are permitted to acquire rights by such precedency: why not in this case? Beyond this, what is wanted that a small amount of legislation will not secure?

It is said that there are differences in opinion as to the mode in which the City Government shall realize upon the privi leges which it confers, whether the companies shall be required to pay a solid sum in hand, or a sum in annual installments for a series of years, or whether some form of annual taxation will not be sufficient. To all this, there is an easy reply. There is but one mode known to our form of government by which-with a few enumerated exceptions-our City Council, or any other legislative body can raise money; and that mode is by TAXATION. And taxation must be "UNI-FORM." The party paying the bonus, and once in possession of the franchises would have the right to sue for their money and recover it back, as taken from them by an unconstitutional mode of taxation. Neither would such a tax be right if it were constitutional. It is not a part of the business of the Council to see that the railway companies make no money. That is an affair with which it has no concern; and all attempts at jurisdiction over prospective profits are as futile in practice as they are indefensible in principle. The true mode is to grant the franchises upon fair terms for public security, and let competition and the interests of the parties concerned do the rest.

NEW BOOKS.

LECTURES ON METAPHYSICS AND LOGIC. By Sir William Hamilton, Bart., Professor of Logic and Metaphysics in the University of Edinburg. Vol. 1. Boston; Gould and Lincoln. Cincinnati; G. S. Blanchard.

This is the first of three large octavo volumes, of ver seven hundred pages each, which are to contain the complete works of the successor of Brown. STEWART, and REID—the greatest of the Scotch school of metaphysicians. The reputation which Sir WILLIAM acquired among scholars as a clear, forcible and consistent reasoner is such as will give his works a cherished place in the libraries of the have tastes for the walk of science which he oursued. And that the taste for investigation into the powers and faculties of the mind is increasing in the United States, is evidenced by the fact that publishers can afford to put forth elegant editions f works upon subjects purely metaphysical. The works of Sir William are valuable, as they point out and correct the errors of his predecessors, and present all that is valuable in the system that is commo o all, while it enables us to discover what was disfinctive in each. The present volume is handsomely printed, with a full index, which is a great and encommon desideratum, and has been edited with a LOVE ME LITTLE, LOVE ME LONG. By Charles Reads. Author of "Never too Late to Mend," "White Lies" etc. New York: Harper & Brothers. Cluciunati: Robt. Clarke & Co., pp. 435.

The author of "Peg Woffington" and "White ice," by the reputation he has attained as a writer of fiction, must command the attention of the reader of this kind of literature. The latest of his works is now before us, and from a cursory examination, we are of opinion that the history of LUCY FOUNTAIN and the course of her love will interest all the lovers of domesticity; and fortunately for the publishers, this lass of people is very large.

THE ROMANCE AND ITS HERO. By the Author of "Magdalene Stafford." New York: Harper & Brothers. Cincinnati: Bobt. Clarke & Co. pp. 424 This book is conversational in style, peculiar in lot, interesting in detail, and from an art point of iew, is superior to many works which have becom copular. Both the above books are neatly printed, nd have been gotten up, typographically, in admira lile style, and we recommend them to our readers.

MRS. HARTUNG AND THE QUESTION OF DEATH 'UNISHMENTS .- The New York Tribune of

Wednesday has the following: The impending execution of a woman has been arrested by the interposition of Judge Wm. B. Wright. Mary Hartung is to have a new trial. The Jury which convicted her, we hear, did so under the implied understanding that the Governor would commute her sautages. her sentence. Another Jury would not be thus influenced. So, we may say she has escaped the gallows, and will probably expiate her arime by spending the remainder of her life in the State Prison.

Now, let New York follow the example o Michigan, which, in 1846, abolished capital punishment for both men and women; of Rhode Island, which did the same in 1852; Wisconsin, which followed in 1853 No Free State in this Union, after once abolishing the death penalty, has ever re-stored it. By peculiar laws, Maine and Ver-mont have virtually abolished the gallows. Massachusetts comes very near it. Is human life less safe in these States than in New TRIAL OF SMITHSON .- This trial was comnenced on Tuesday, before the Pittsburg Jourt of Quarter Sessions. It will be remembered that on the 11th of September last, Thomas Smithson went to the residence of Miss Henry, at the foot of Second street, in the First Ward, and after a conversation in the First Ward, and after a conversation with her, deliberately drew a pistol and shot her through the body. By what must be regarded as a Providential interposition, the young lady recovered, although she is not yet entirely well—able, however, to attend Court and give her testimony. She is but seventeen years of age, and of prepossessing appearance. Smithson is perhaps not over twenty, and of quite a boyish appearance. It was alleged, at the time of the occurrence, that the moving cause of his fiendish act was that the moving cause of his fiendish act was her rejection of his proffer of attention and marriage. The defense rested the case solely on the plea of insanity, which plea was sub-sequently abandoned and witnesses to good character called. Verdict, guilty. Motion for a new trial was readed.

THE SICELES CASE, according to the N. Y

for a new trial was made.

Tribune, contains the following moral : Messrs. libertines! be careful not so much what you do as to whose prejudice you do it. Select your victims carefully from among those who have no fathers, brothers or husbands who can wield a club or aim a pistol—prey upon the orphan, the defenseless, the lowly, or you sin at the risk of your lives. choose prudently, and there are for you neither legal nor illegal terrors—there is fear neither of the prison nor of the bullet—there is, in

LAW REPORT. SUPERIOR COURT.

GENERAL TERM - After opening pro forms, the operal Term was adjourned until Saturday mornseperal Term was adjourned until Saturday morning.

Special Term,—Leon Lamerauld vs. W. L. Enderson and others. The claim in this case was by a judgment creditor to enforce a lion upon a judgment; and it was urged in defense that the judgment being obtained against husband and wife, was void.

In disposing of the case Judge Spencer remarked that the judgment was not absolutely void on the ground that the wife could not be made a party in an action of that sort; it was merely voidable on error. Woodriff for plaintiff.

Joseph Blasa vs. Jacob Elsus and others. Application to appoint a receiver, and to dissolve a partner-ship.

tion to appoint a receiver, and to dissolve a partnership.

Argued by Judge Hoadley and Mr. Wolf, forplainiff; and by King & Thompson on the other side.

Room No. 3. Dean and Campbelt vs. the Commisstoners of Hamilton County. This case was subnitted to Judge Gholson. The action was brought to recover for the building of a pier under a bridge at Harrison. The principal question was as to who was responsible for the failing of the original pier, in place of which this was built. The Court was of opinion that there was a mistake on the part of the Surveyor as to the foundation, and the selection being with the Court, the Commissioners were responsible. The measurement of the Surveyor was to be taken. Printiffs were allowed for the work between $5,000 and $7,000, from which payments amounting to about $5,000 were to be deducted.

Stallo and McCook and McGroarty for plaintiff; E.

A. Ferguson and Judge Holman on the other side.

HAMILTON COUNTY COURT. A few briefs were handed up, and one or two case care argued.

PROBATE COURT. Insanity.—A young woman named Maria Bisch-winger, twenty years of age, was found by the officers wandering about the streets. Her mind became de-ranged, it was allessed, in consequence of disappoint-ment in love. She was in this country only since November last. She was sent to Lick-run Asylum for the present.

The Clifton Mystery .- The Bodies Found and Lost.

Coroner Carey, yesterday afternoon, accom anied by four men, again repaired to Clifton, or the purpose of holding an examination over the bodies of the two children, which were found a day or two ago in a culvert, under the Miami Canal.

Upon examination of the well-hole it was ound that the rain which fell so heavily on Friday night, had washed the bodies down the ravine, and that they, in all probability, had disappeared forever.

He, however, made as much of an investigation of the affair as he could, without posiive knowledge that the bodies were there, which developed the following: A workman who was engaged in cleaning the culvert before alluded to, found a bundle of clothes, tied with a rope at each end, to which was attached a large stone. He undertook to open it, and found that it contained he body of a child, but the stench was so reat that he, taking the articles of clothing, left the culvert, threw them into the canal, and went to give information to the Coroner. A farmer, who was in the employ of Mr. Howell Gano, seeing the clothes, fished them up, and noticing the mark "N. Gano-and not "S.," as before stated-took them to the family, who immediately identified them as being a part of a large quantity of undergarments which had been stolen from their vard some time in August last.

This is all that could be ascertained in regard to the affair, and just enough has been developed to give the whole neighborhood the most vivid imaginings of horrid deeds, and to eave little doubt that a murder, foul as any which has startled the ear of the city for a long time, has been perpetrated in that locality, and hidden by an almost impenetrable vail of mystery from the knowledge of our cit-

Examination of Counterfuters .- Yesterlay morning Elizabeth Roberts and Joseph Rowland, the persons arrested on Home street a day or two ago, having in their poscession a large amount of counterfeit money, were taken before Judge Lowe for examinaion. During the trial the following facts were elicited: Rowland had been seen in the company of an individual well known to the Police named Manning-hence suspected of being a party to his villainy. He was there fore watched, and, when the officers went to the house of Mrs. Roberts, a man escaped, whom, after a long attempt at concealment, they admitted was Manning, but without attempting to arrest him, they took into custody the woman (who is very poor, and has for a long time made a livelihood at the vash-tub,) and Rowland, who is from the country, and proved, upon examination by a number of witnesses, an excellent character. The money, however, which was found scattered upon the table, was regarded as an ffair of which they were cognizant, and both were held in $800 bonds for their appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

James Lindsay, who, about the same time, was arrested at his residence on Water street, between Elm and Plum, and who had upon his person about $70 in counterfeit bills, was also examined, and held to bail in the same amount to answer the charge before the Court of Common Pleas at its next term.

FATAL ACCIDENT .- A MAN KILLED BY FALLING FROM A SCAFFOLD .- An accident occurred yesterday afternoon, on the corner of Ninth and Linn streets, which resulted in the almost immediate death of a man named George Mattscherk. In company with another, he was engaged in painting a house belonging to Mr. Lambert, when the scaffolding, which was three stories high, and formed by resting heavy planks on the rounds of two ladders placed in a perpendicular position, began to totter, and both losing their equilibrium fell to the sidewalk, a distance of at least forty feet. Mattscherk died in about half an hour after the accident; the other, whose name is Peter Stenn, late last evening, was in a very critical condition, although it was thought he would

A nouse occupied by a man named Getsinger, on Clark street, between Linn and Baymiller, was entered by burglars yesterday morning through the window; but a noise awakened the inmates before they succeeded in securing any booty.

Bowen's Patent Sewing Machines. The different styles of Sewing Machines are so numerous that it is a matter of no little inconvenience to the person or persons who wish to purchase to make selections—each separate patentee claiming for his machine advantages over all other competitors. To that class of people, of limited means, however, who hesitate about investing their money in a cheap machine, and who suppose that because a machine is selling at a price which places it within the reach of all, that its merits or its capacity to do good work is hardly feasible; to those who are laboring under that impression, we suggest the propriety of calling and examining the machine whose name heads this article, and if W. B. COLEMAN, the gentlemanly agent, does not demonstrate to a certainty that a good double thread machine can be purchased for the nominal sum of $35, that is capable of doing as good work as any $75 or $100 machine, we will forfeit the price of any one in the market. Bowes's Patent Sewing Machine is now conceded to be superior to any other now in the market, at the price, and equal to any sold for double that amount. It is useless for us to eulogize upon the superior merits of this machine, but would simply suggest to those anticipating the immediate purchase of a sewing machine, to apply in propria persona to W. B. COLEMAN, No. 7 Burnet House Building, on Third street, near Vine, whore the merits of the machines will be properly explained.

No Lady who makes any pretensions to true gentility, is insensible to the advantages of a neat and elegant exterior. Indeed the chaste and lovely character of the female mind is (and has always been) evidenced by the attention paid by Ladies to the agreeable duties of the toilet. This has been so in all ages, and we know that the same characteristic of the sex prevails every-where in our own day. Different tastes may prevail as to dress and ornament, but no diversity of sentiment exists among the honored Ladies of our happy country as to the importance of a clear and youthful complexion, soft and transparent skin, luxuriant and beautiful hair, and being refreshed by the aroma of a thousand flowers. Hence they hail with the most sincere delight every addition that may be made to the number of their toilet preparations, because such additions contribute materially to their happiness, by enabling them to give external evidence of the innate love of the beautiful, which constitute so prominent a feature of their chaste and lovable minds.

We are by no means surprised, therefore, to hear that the new establishment for the sale of preparations for the Toilet, at No. 246 MAIN STREET, under the management of Mr. George W. Brown, is daily thronged by the Ladies of Cincinnati, Covington, Newport, and the country round on both sides of the Ohio; for here they find not only all kinds of Toilet and Medicinal Preparations, but the very best that have ever been offered to the Ladies of this or any other country.

TESTIMONIAL. Boston, July 19, 1857.

Messas. J. Burnerr & to.—I can not refuse to state the salutary effect is my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oli—Cocaine.

For many months my hale had been falling off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became grashally more and more inflamed so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contain camplene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oli, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application aliayed the itching and irritation; in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others, similarly affected, will be induced to try the same remedy.

Yours, very truly, SUSAN R. POPE.

OINCINNAT, Fobruary 13, 1889.

About a month ago I called at Dr. Ayor's "Throat and Lung Institute," 30 West Fourth street, for treatment for Fonsilitis and Chronic Inflammation of the Throat. The tonsils and uvula (or palate) were so much enlarged that there seemed to be but one course to pursue, and that was to cut them off; this I had been told by other physicians, who had also candidly told me they could not cure me. Dr. Ayer made a careful examination and pronounced excision unnecessary, and prescribed Medicated Inhalation and topical applications, with general treatment, and the result is a person transpile. The inflammation has been allayed, and the tonsils and palate reduced to their natural size and position. I now have no someoness or difficulty whatever of the throat, and FEEL THAT I AM NOW PREFECTLY WELL.

I cordially commend Dr. Ayer as a skillful and complemes. His mode of treatment is rational, pleasant, and cortainly in my case successful, and I have every reason to bolieve the Doctor is equally successful in all other cases while I have been under treatment at the Institute.
